Genetic Health Data

Using Trait Information

74% of participants said they were interested in ancestral genetic information

59% of participants said the information gained from genetic testing would influence how they manage their health

72% of participants said trait information and data about health risks were important to them

Helpful or Harmful?

<2% of participants said they regretted receiving genetic data information

1% of participants said the information they received was harmful

93% of participants said genetic testing was the right decision

94% of participants said they would under go genetic testing again